POPULAR GLENDALE YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED.

Miss Edna Valentine, daughter of Mrs. M. Z. Valentine of Kenneth road, and Gilbert McCann, also of this place, were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother, Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. George Eley of Lomita avenue, officiating. Miss Valentine was attended by Miss Margaret Taylor, a graduate of Glendale Union high school, while Louis Koch of Los Angeles supported the groom.

The marriage of these two popular young local society people comes as a fitting culmination to a long courtship, which enabled the young people to thoroughly understand each other. It is gratifying to the younger society set of the valley to see these young folks so happily married. They are both graduates of Glendale high school.

A wedding luncheon was served to those present immediately after the ceremony. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. McCann left for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at their home on Kenneth road.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. Saiz of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Wenger of Glendale, Rev. and Mrs. Eley, Mrs. M. Z. Valentine, Misses Margaret Taylor, Lorraine Mitchell, Maggie Valentine of Corona, Mazy McCann; Mr. Louis Koch of Los Angeles.

Mrs. George Eley gave a party for Miss Valentine at her home on Lomita avenue last Friday evening.

THE JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS.

Monday evening saw this crowd of funmakers gathered at the dance given by the Knights of Pythias lodge. Who said a little storm could keep these jolly fellows at home, particularly after Minnie had informed us all early in the evening over the phone that while Mrs. McKee has been boasting about her mince pie, the bake oven at 1443 Vine street was busy all day and that it was up to the crowd to determine which place they would prefer to board at.

There is no use in asking what kind of a time did they have, because it was only after a hard plea with Mr. Everett, our loyal night watchman, who, by the way, we are delighted to see on duty again, that he left us go on our way rejoicing. But only after a close examination of our pockets in order to ascertain that all the belongings of the lodge were left in the hall. Well, not wanting to give the best of the joke away Mr. McKee had his mind made up to get even for the occasion on which he was fooled, so he has been saving a little extra appetite and it was a lucky thing Mrs. W. R. Petty had seen to it that the spread which was furnished for this hungry crowd was plenty, as it was only in sympathy for Mr. Petty probably having to leave the house the next morning without breakfast that McKee was kind enough to leave the last bit of delicious cake on the plate. Joy to the next victim.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The students of the Glendale Union High School will give a musical on the afternoon of Friday, February 24th, at the High School, at which Prof. C. S. DeLano, of Los Angeles, will render selections on mandolin and guitar. Mr. DeLano is a master of both instruments and all who attend will no doubt be amply repaid. It is Mr. DeLano's desire to start classes in Glendale, and he would be pleased to meet any persons interested at this time.

The following program was rendered Monday morning by the students in honor of Lincoln's birthday: Address of Roosevelt, Dwight Stevenson; song, Stars and Stripes Forever; poem, Letta McCoy; Lincoln's First Dollar, Sol Reharr; piano solo, Dorothy Lee; (a) Notes for a Law Lecture, (b) Letter to Mrs. Bixby, Anna Woodbury; A Foreign Estimate of Lincoln, Elva Spencer; song, America; "An Incident," reading from "The Crisis," Owen Emery; "An Incident," reading from "The Crisis," Emily Elias; vocal solo, Viola Yorba; "The Perfect Tribute," Evelyn Ryan; "Personal Recollections of Lincoln," Captain Wells; song, "Star Spangled Banner."

At the completion of the program school was adjourned for the afternoon.

Because of the rain the interclass track meet which was to have been held on the high school grounds, Wednesday, was postponed till the following Tuesday at the close of the afternoon session.

The Senior class has at last procured its class pins and the members are wearing them very ostentatiously. In a contest as to which class could manage to acquire the fewest marks for tardiness and absence, the senior class won out last week, thus winning the prize, a coveted half holiday for Friday afternoon.

Several new pupils have taken up the work in pottery and basket weaving in the art department.

The botany class is preparing to go to the mountains to bud wild roses in their native state.

Edith Hagin has returned to Glendale high to re-enter the class of 1912. She has been attending the Gardena High.

Preparations are being made for a musical to be given by the students of that department on the 24th. Mrs. Gibson has the affair in charge.

HEAD FIRST.

Beyond a doubt the new and modern quarters of Mrs. Charles Eudemiller's millinery shop will be an item of first interest to the ladies of Glendale.

Mrs. Eudemiller has recently moved from her old quarters on Brand boulevard into the new building which was erected next door.

The first features of consideration are the white and gold windows. They are simple and elegant, all in white with gold standards and lighted by two handsome bronze electrolights. Seen after night fall with soft lights shining through cut glass fixtures and dear little antique lanterns, the shop is a picture. Across the front of the room above the windows is an exquisite piece of white satin tapestry embroidered and heavily fringed in all over. The shop is furnished in antique walnut which together with the little hand-carved Swiss clock would make a visit well worth while. The show cases and windows run riot with spring flowers, wisteria, arbutus, poppies, tiger lilies, sweet peas, pansies, in fact every stately and every dainty flower was represented, and by the way, coral, real coral, is one of the very newest spring touches for a "chapeau."

A peek beyond a tapestry curtain in the back of the shop room shows an artistically appointed white and green hair-dressing and manicure parlor, complete in every modern detail. Still further in is a well fitted stock room and venturing a little beyond one finds the work room excellently lighted and well ventilated where several skilled workers under Mrs. Eudemiller's personal supervision are busily employed on madame's new spring hat, among them Miss Rose Vavara of Chicago, a recent disciple of the master, Gage.

The Michigan State Society of Southern California will hold its annual basket picnic at Eastlake Park Saturday, February 25th, Los Angeles. Should it be stormy it will be held Saturday, March 4th. These occasions always bring happy reunions of old friends; and the coming meeting will be no exception. A good program is being arranged. Bring your baskets. Free coffee will be served.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

After a long period of quiescence there really seems to be something doing in realty on the east side of Glendale. The announcement was made last week of the purchase of the 15-acre piece from Haines, on Verdugo road by the Edwards and Wilsey company. It is understood that the price paid was about $1250 per acre. The property is being divided into acre lots and will furnish some choice residence sites. Although not yet on the market the tract is visited daily by prospective buyers.

There has been sold 15 acres off the west side of the Dodge property on the south side of Fifth street extending from Verdugo road to the Childs tract line and running through to Sixth street. The westerly five acres has been bought by Mr. W. J. Broad, whose original home property joins it on the west. The next five acres has been sold to an Eagle Rock purchaser, and the easterly five acres to Mr. J. A. C. Moore, Mr. Dodge retaining the remaining five acres on the corner of Verdugo road and Fifth street. Mr. Moore has recently bought the six acre property of Olmstead, north of the west end of the Sherer property on Ninth street; also a five-acre piece of Urquidez on the east.

UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL.

The attention of teachers is directed to the unusual opportunities that the University of California will offer for vacation study at its next summer session, June 26 to August 4. In connection with the coming of the National Education Association to San Francisco, the authorities are planning the most noteworthy program of courses that has ever been offered. As the fare from San Francisco to Berkeley is but ten cents, teachers will find it easy to attend the meetings of the National Education Association and also enroll in the Summer School at Berkeley.

Courses will be offered in the following subjects, in many of which up-division and graduate credit may be secured. In music and physical education, a sequence of courses has been arranged by which students may do co-operative work through several summer sessions:

Philosophy 4, Education 5, Law 4, History 5, Economics 2, Anthropology 2, Music 8, Greek 3, Latin 4, English 8, German 6, French 5, Spanish 3, Mathematics 8, General Science 1, Astronomy 2, Physics 5, Geography 2, Chemistry 3, Botany 2, Zoology 5, Hygiene 6, Paleontology 2, Drawing 7, Stenography and Typewriting 2, Manual Training 6, Entomology 2, Nature Study 2, Agricultural Education 2, Home Economics (theoretical and practical) 6, Physical Education 6, Playground Work 6.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET.

Twenty-five schools have been invited to participate in the First Annual Invitational Track and Field meet to be held at San Fernando on February 22. All high schools in Los Angeles and Ventura counties in which the enrollment is under three hundred have been invited and a majority of them have named entrants for one or more events. A program of eight track and seven field events has been made out. Grant Richardson, the well known U. S. C. athlete has been secured to manage the affair and an amateur athletic union rules will prevail there are likely to be some exciting events. The following schools are entitled to participate: Alhambra, Azusa (Citrus), Burbank, Claremont, Compton, Covina, Downey, (Los Nietas), El Monte, Fillmore, Gardena, Glendale, Huntington Park, Inglewood, Monrovia, Northridge, Oxnard, Redondo Beach, San Dimas, (Bonita), San Fernando Union, San Fernando Seventh Day Adventist Academy, San Pedro, Santa Paula, South Pasadena, Ventura and Wilmington. THE WORTH WHILE CLUB.

The regular business meeting of the Worth While Club was held Tuesday evening, February 8th, at the home of Miss Cecelia Wilson on Central avenue. The following officers were elected: President, Cecelia Wilson; vice president, Monica Smith; secretary, Belle Lyons; treasurer, Belle McKee; press correspondent, Ethel Porter; chairman social committee, Miriam Harrison; chairman visiting committee, Sina Bailey.

The club then took up a short study of the poet Bryant, after which they were entertained with music by Miss Porter and the Misses Smith and Wilson.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION GRAND CONCERT.

The music lovers and society folk of Glendale are to have a rare treat in the coming concert of Madame Bertha Amet, dramatic soprano, and Herr Henry Schoenefeld, a noted pianist and composer. They bring with them Miss Margaret Obara Miller, a charming and talented reader, also Miss Elsa Grosser, a young violinist of rare ability. Herr Schoenefeld is one of the leading pianists and composers of this country. John Philip Sousa's famous band is at present playing his latest work "An American Rhapsody" on their tour around the world, with great success. Madame Bertha Amet has but recently returned from a four years' tour of Europe, which she spent concertizing and studying. The following is culled from the New Orleans Picayune:

Mme. Amet has a sympathetic voice, and combined with an almost flawless technique and charming personality, she has won her way into the hearts of those who have been so fortunate as to hear her sing. Mme. Amet is a finished artist with voice, temperament and charm of manner, in her favor. She has won a place with music lovers here, as well as abroad.

The concert will be given in Filger's Opera house Wednesday evening Feb. 22. Tickets at 50c can be obtained at Newberry's new store on Fourth street, corner Maryland Ave.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club and many guests enjoyed one of the best programs of the year at the meeting this week. It was a patriotic afternoon and Col. J. J. Steadman of Hollywood gave an address on the life of Lincoln that was listened to with great interest and was most enthusiastically received.

The program opened with a vocal solo, beautifully rendered, by Mrs. Kinney of Lomita Park. Mrs. Kinney was encored and most graciously responded. Then followed Col. Steadman's address. Mrs. J. G. Hunchberger then delighted the audience with two readings: "The Absence of Little Wesley," Riley; "The English Sparrows," by Dr. De Witt Talmage. Mrs. Kinney then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and all joined her in the chorus.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and red geraniums. A general invitation had been extended to the public and especially the school children and young America applauded roundly in response to the patriotic spirit inspired by address by Col. Steadman.

At the close of the program tea and cake were served and the colors of the great flag that has never seen defeat were repeated in the cake and napkins.

JOYOUS OCCASION.

The "D. B. Bunch," alias Devilish Dozen, alias Dainty Diners, and, by the way, Dainty Diners seems to be the real name of the organization judging by the symptoms whenever the lid is taken off the dining room, held their regular bi-monthly meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Howe on Burchett street right near the big live oak tree.

A change in the constitution now permits the hostess to open the meeting at 6:30 p. m., with a regular dinner. It certainly was a grand opening, rivaling in splendor the one pulled off last week by our old friend Gus Williams. Mrs. Howe was assisted by Mr. Dominy in clearing away the display. The color scheme was done in oysters. After the opening there followed a merry session of games and conversation. The program was concluded with a brief literary and musical program, as follows:

Reading, "My First Night in Sycamore Camp," Mrs. Hunchberger; address, "Child Life," Mr. Lynch; illustrated solo, Mr. Howe; paper, "Insurance," Mr. Truscott; talk, "Value of Silence," Mr. Tower.

The meeting closed with a foot race for the last car. Mrs. Lynch won.

The Result

We were unable to get the detailed report of the inter-class meet held at the high school Wednesday afternoon, but the total points made by each class are as follows: Senior, 69; Junior, 43; Sophomore, 7; Freshmen, 6.

GLENDALE, CAL., FEBRUARY 17, 1911

What a wise old world this would be if we were always right when we think we know!

Good citizenship does not consist in working for your own family, your own interest or your own immediate neighborhood.

A bulletin containing general information, detailed announcement of courses, etc., will be issued in March, and will be sent on application to the Dean of the Summer Session, California Hall, Berkeley, Cal.

Our own state senator, Lee Gates, has made good at Sacramento in establishing his fame as an orator, but his greediness in swallowing every measure labeled "reform" leads to the belief that he has the fault of great orators generally, few of whom have been wise statesmen.

A bill has been introduced into the Sacramento legislature to adopt as a state song some rhymes of Mr. Claude Bishop of Orange county. When adopted it will presumably be accompanied by an enabling act. Whether it becomes a law or not depends upon Mr. Bishop's being able to put on it the stamp of the administration.

That Mrs. Maybrick, convicted of the murder of her husband and suffered to go free because of the persistence of Americans who believed her innocent, does not draw particularly well, nor get much space in the newspapers, is creditable to our American women; as is also the fact that the Pankhurst young woman, one of London's militant suffragettes, goes back to London disappointed in her mission to Chicago to stir things up.

AT SACRAMENTO.

The letter of Senator Works in which he expressed his opposition to the recall as applied to the judiciary, is the sensation of the past week. To say that it was a bombshell falling unexpectedly into a peaceful camp where everything seemed perfectly peaceful and harmonious, is putting it none too strongly. It led to a farcical performance in the senate when Sanford, Democrat from Utah, tried to get a resolution through favoring the recall of Works. It was ruled out of order, however, and budding Democratic hopes were squelched in their inception. Works has written a second letter, addressed to Senator Hewitt, repeating his views on the subject of Senator Holohan has in stand by his guns. Apropos to the subject of senator, Holdham has introduced a bill which if adopted will prevent a betrayal of their constituents as occurred at the recent election of Works. It is proposed in this measure to put representatives under oath to carry out the instructions of their constituents. Los Angeles is not going to have everything her own way in the assembly. San Francisco, Alameda and the northern delegations combined against the South last week and defeated Cagwell's plea for the exemption of Los Angeles from the effect of Stuckenbruck's bill providing for the maintenance of county high ways improved under bond issue by county taxes of not more than three cents on the hundred. The probability is that the measure will pass.

The legislature has taken action and telegraphed to Washington its approval of electing United States senators by direct vote. The resolution passed the assembly without opposition.

The conservation element in the senate is supporting a resolution prepared by Senator Thompson on the Japanese question which commends the effort of the government to regulate immigration by treaty. The radicals naturally oppose it, but there is no serious probability that the radical element will prevail.

The initiative and referendum measures, presented by Gates have passed both houses with no serious opposition.

The local option measure which passed the house is likely to be amended in the senate, the object being to protect the wine business of Sonoma county where dry wine is manufactured on a large scale.

The record of bills introduced has been broken by this session of the legislature, the number being 1533. Two years ago the number was 1451. The senate has also made a record of the total number of measures introduced, there being 1231.

MID-MAY FESTIVAL.

At the last meeting of the Glendale Valley Improvement Association it was decided that arrangements be made to hold a Mid-May festival, the chairman to appoint a committee in charge. The executive board was appointed as committee of arrangements.

The officers of the association have concluded to arrange (subject to change) holding the celebration at Verdugo Park, on Saturday, May 13, being blessed with full moon on that date, the occasion ought to be a grand success.

The officers are of the opinion after the experience of last year that if we want to show our visitors a good time and be able to accommodate them, let us engage as many vehicles as possible and drive those so wishing around our beautiful city, then up to Verdugo Park, where they will be greeted with a fine barbecue, ball game, dancing and other amusements.

The committees are as follows:
Committee on arrangements: F. L. Muhleman, chairman; I. H. Russell, H. P. Coker, A. M. Watson; H. A. La Gross.

Finance committee: C. O. Pulliam, chairman; C. H. Allen, Dick Sternberg, Cecil Shaver, E. H. Kerker, W. H. Kirk, Dwight Griswold.

A bed and complete furnishings were donated by the committee with the exception of the sheets which were given by Mrs. Mary H. Gridley.

At the next regular meeting of the Guild hall, the use of which was kindly offered by the members of the guild to the committee, two comforters were knotted. At regular meetings held the comforters were completed and quilts pieced.

At regular meeting Feb. 10, 1911, seven members were present. It was voted not to give the Lincoln tea. All piece goods on hand donated to King's Daughters Day Nursery.

The Bird Table.

In the old countries of Europe the bird table may still be seen in the rural districts. A bird table is made by driving a short stake into the ground and firmly nailing a shallow wooden box on top of it. The box generally measures two by three feet and has a number of holes in the bottom to drain it of rain or snow water. It is always high enough to be beyond reach of any cat that might try to leap to it from the ground. Care also is taken to select a spot far enough from fences, trees or buildings to prevent cats from pouncing down on it when the birds are feeding. Into the bird table go scraps from the house table and kitchen, pieces of stale bread and cake, strips of fat meat, potato parings, carrot ends, bits of any kind of table greens, apple skins and cores and cabbage leaves. All kinds of nonmigratory birds come to feed at the bird table, and many a song bird has been saved by it from starvation when a deep snow has covered the ground and seed grasses. An English naturalist counted twenty-seven species of birds at the bird table in his garden in a single morning after a heavy fall of snow.

Cellini's Quick Cure.

Benvenuto Cellini when about to cast his famous statue of Perseus, now in the Loggia del Lanzi at Florence, was taken with a sudden fever. In the midst of his suffering one of his workmen rushed into his sick chamber and exclaimed: "Oh, Benvenuto! Your statue is spoiled, and there is no hope whatever of saving it!" Cellini said that when he heard this he gave a howl and leaped from his bed. Dressing hastily, he rushed to his furnace and found his metal "caked." He ordered dry oak wood and fired the furnace fiercely, working in a rain that was falling, stirred the channels and saved his metal. He continues the story thus: "After all was over I turned to a plate of salad on a bench there and ate with a hearty appetite and drank together with the whole crew. Afterward I retired to my bed, healthy and happy, for it was two hours before morning, and slept as sweetly as if I had never felt a touch of illness."

Fantastic Headgear.

The fantastic headgear of Korea is not only picturesque; it marks the social position of the wearer. The national popular hat is high in form, has a tube of half the caliber of ours and is slightly conical, black in color, supported by wide brims. The material is of horsehair, very finely woven. When the Korean gentleman's hat is so straw color it denotes that he is a happy fance. Le chapeau de ris, elegant in its conical form with angular brim, denotes a bonza. Another hat of enormous size is that of the Ping Yang sect, who must hide their faces. It descends at the back almost to the shoulders, the brim being festooned, and if the proprietor is of superstitious turn he adds some black figures to ward off evil spirits. Married men after a certain age add stories to their hats.

An Apology to Amanda.

This is to apologize to a colored lady whom we admire and respect. We printed a little anecdote about her not long ago, and in it we tried the impossible—attempted to imitate her inimitable Mississippi accent. Then we showed her the story. She wasn't tickled to find herself in print as we expected her to be. While acknowledging the truth of the story, there was still a cloud on her ebony brow. "What's the matter, Amanda?" we asked. "Didn't you want to get into the paper?" "Gittin' inter de papeh's all right," she hesitated. "But, mst, y'll didn't ought to put it down dat Ah talked dat away. Ah don't never use none o' dat African talk!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hogarth Used to Forget.

William Hogarth, the famous English artist, was so absentminded he caused his friends much entertainment. When he was prosperous enough to have his own carriage he first used it to make a call upon the lord mayor. When he came out of the Mansion House it was raining hard, and the artist tramped the entire way home, wet to the skin. When asked why he had not come in the carriage he said he forgot all about it, and a messenger had to be dispatched to the coachman to tell him to return.

Why He Stopped.

They had been engaged only a week. He had kissed her fully forty times that evening. When he stopped the tears came into her eyes, and she said: "Dearest, you have ceased to love me."

"No, I haven't," he replied, "but I must breathe."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Cunning.

Cunning signifies especially a habit or gift of overreaching, accompanied with enjoyment and a sense of superiority. It is associated with small and dull conceit and with an absolute want of sympathy or affection. It is the intensest rendering of vulgarity, absolute and utter.—Ruskin.

Making Insurance Maps.

In making insurance maps certain features are considered essential, and the growth of the system has proved their wisdom and changed them only as regards the amount of detail that has been incorporated. Of first importance were the colors to show the different materials used in the construction of a building. Naturally red seemed a proper color to signify brick and yellow to signify wood. These colors have always been employed for these materials. Other colors have been added from time to time, thus blue for stone, gray for iron, etc.

In fixing signs and characters for such details as stairways, fire escapes, dumb waiter shafts, etc., a principal object was to make them plain and distinct. They must be easily understood by an underwriter without reference to my key or marginal footnotes.

This object has been carried out with the result that when these insurance maps are examined by an insurance man today each sign or character has such an individuality of its own that it can be easily distinguished and is not confused with another. —Cassler's Magazine.

The Word "Fudge."

"Fudge" is a word with a history. There are prosaic etymologists, as there always are, who derive it from a Gaelic word meaning deception, but Isaac Disraeli's view is much more interesting. He derives it from a certain Captain Fudge, who seems to have been a marine. Munchausen. "You fudge it" is said to have been his crew's equivalent to the modern "Rats." In a collection of some papers of William Crouch, the Quaker, published in 1712 it is recorded that one Degory Marshall informed Crouch that "in the year 1664 we were sentenced for banishment to Jamaica by Judge Hyde and Twisden, and our number was fifty-five. We were put on board the ship Black Eagle. The master's name was Fudge, by some called Lying Fudge." —London Standard.

The Leipzig Book Fair.

Leipzig is the largest publication center in the world. More books and periodicals are printed there than anywhere else, and more people are engaged in making and using printers' supplies than in London, New York, Berlin or Paris. Many of the orders for these publications come from England, France, Austria and other countries because the mechanical work can be done in Leipzig much cheaper than elsewhere. More than half of the transactions in books take place at the Leipzig book fair, which occurs every year at the jubilee, the first week in August, when booksellers and publishers from all parts of Germany assemble to compare and balance accounts and to make contracts for the next year.

A Babbe From Carlyle.

I used to see Carlyle when I lived as a child in Chelsea. I regarded him with extraordinary aversion and fear. One day I was sent to post a letter. I suppose I was older, though unconscious, as always, of anything ahead. I cannoned into Carlyle. The impact laid me flat on the pavement, where I yelled for some minutes, though soothing eventually by England's great thinker. And then—this is the point of the story—Carlyle dived into his pockets, produced a halfpenny and said kindly, "Here is a babbe for Bobby." I have the halfpenny to this day. When Mr. Carlyle died I was put into deep mourning. He was the first and perhaps the most interesting of all my street acquaintances. —Robert Ross in London Bystander.

Self Reliance.

The spirit of self help is the root of all genuine growth in the individual, and, exhibited in the lives of many, it constitutes the true source of national vigor and strength. Help from without is often enfeebling in its effects, but help from within invariably invigorates. Whatever is done for men or classes to a certain extent takes away the stimulus and necessity of doing for themselves, and where men are subjected to overguidance and overgovernment the inevitable tendency is to render them comparatively helpless. —Samuel Smiles.

A Field at Home.

A Boston gentleman was showing a West African who is interested in missionary work a number of photographs. "What is this?" asked the visitor, gazing in wonder at one of them. "Oh, that's a snapshot taken during a football scrimmage at the stadium." "But has your church no missionaries to send among these people?" was the quick rejoinder. —Boston Transcript.

Cruikshank's Long Artistic Life.
In 1808 Cruikshank was asked by the committee who exhibited his "Worship of Bacchus" to associate with that work some of his early drawings in order to prove that he was not his own grandfather. —Chesson's "Cruikshank."

Getting In Debt.

Poverty is hard, but debt is horrible; a man might as well have a smoky house and a scolding wife, which are said to be the two worst evils of our life. —Spurgeon.

Pretty Peer.

Kicks—Bluffer is talking of purchasing an automobile. Wicks—Bluffer! Why, he couldn't buy a charge of ammunition for an air gun! —Boston Transcript.

One Thing She Could Do For Him.
One Saturday afternoon recently a frail little man started to cross Broadway at Forty-second street just when all sorts of fast moving vehicles were whirling their matinee patrons up Broadway. At the same instant a very fleshy lady started from the curb directly opposite with the same purpose in mind.

By remarkable luck both succeeded in escaping the passing wheels; but, as fate would have it, the little man, whose eyes were busy ogling the traffic on either side of him, darted plump into the oncoming woman at the middle of the street. The result was a sickening collision, with the little man down and out.

"You should have looked where you were going," said the fleshy woman, bending over the victim on the curb, to which he had been carried by a traffic policeman. "But is there anything I can do for you?"

"Yes," he replied faintly, opening his eyes a moment. "Get the number of the automobile that struck me." —Lippincott's.

Holy Lands of All Religions.

Christians call Palestine the Holy Land because it was the birthplace of the Christian religion on earth as well as that of the Saviour, whose birth, ministry and death are inseparably associated with the history of Jerusalem and vicinity. To the Mohammedans Mecca, in Arabia, is the holy land, it being the birthplace of Mohammed, the saviour of the followers of that faith.

India is the holy land of the Chinese and other oriental Buddhists, it being the native land of Sakya Nuni, the supreme Buddha. Ellis, one of the several divisions of the ancient Peloponnesus, was the Mecca and the Jerusalem of the ancient Greeks. The temple of Olympus Zeus was situated at Ellis, and the sacred festivals were held there each year. With Achala it is at present a part of Greece. The believers in the Sinto religion make annual pilgrimage to Sitsa Kara, the immense stone pillar where their supreme ruler last stood while talking to men. —New York World.

Sealing a Mine.

The brilliancy of the clear autumn night was dimming in the first faint light of the dawn when the work of sealing the shafts began. Up into the cloudless sky, through the tangled steel work of the tippie, a tall tower of black smoke 300 feet high poured up into the still air and faded into the dawn. In two hours the black pits were covered, first with a layer of rails, and then on this was laid a solid bed of concrete, and two hours later only a few thin wisps of smoke that poured up through cracks along the edges of the great seal, like steam beneath the lid of a teakettle, told of the inferno that was seething in the mine 400 feet below. With the air cut off and the shaft sealed the fire could live only so long as sufficient oxygen remained to feed the flames. —Atlantic Monthly.

When the Super is Known.

A risky uncertainty in one night stands is the super. In smaller places he works until 6 o'clock in the evening, peacefully partakes of his supper and presents himself at the stage door at 7. This leaves a very brief time for his drill. The mysteries of makeup have not been solved by him, and, worst of all, every inhabitant knows him.

"Once," as Lawrence Marston tells it, "we were doing 'Richard III.' It was a one night stand, with raw supers. All went well until the moment when the bearers, with King Edward's body on a stretcher, emerged from the wings."

"Set down, set down your honorable load," began Queen Anne.

"An' do it aisy, Mollie O'Brien!" called a voice from the gallery. —New York Tribune.

Damascus Olive Groves.

There is an ancient custom under which the olive groves around Damascus are guarded by official watchmen to prevent the trees being stripped of their fruit. But on a certain date the governor or some magistrate issues a proclamation warning all owners of olive trees that they must pick their fruit, for after a certain date it becomes public property. If a farmer has his crop only half gathered when that date arrives the public will gather it for him.

An Extreme Case.

"What was the trouble between Swinton and his wife? Was it his fault or hers that they were unable to get along together?"

"It's rather hard to decide. It appears that whenever one of them had an irresistible impulse the other had an unalterable objection." —Chicago Record-Herald.

How He Got Her.

"The psychological moment counts for much in a love affair." "That is true. Ferdinand, for instance, asked father for my hand the afternoon my dressmaker's bill came in." —Washington Herald.

Hereditary.

"Look at the way baby's working his mouth!" exclaimed Mrs. Newman. "Now he proposes to put his foot in it." "H'm!" replied her husband grumpily. "Hereditary. That's what I did when I proposed."

He Went.

Visitor—Is your clock right? Tired Hostess (at the end of her patience and politeness)—Oh, no! That's the one we call the visitor. Visitor—What a quaint name! Why? Hostess—Because it doesn't go.

Rosa Bonheur's Humble Lover.

When asked why she had never married Rosa Bonheur always answered: "Nobody ever fell in love with me. I have never been truly loved." More than one man, however, really worshipped her. But she inspired such deep respect that no man seems to have dared to reveal his feelings to her. There is a curious example of this fact, taken from the humble walks of life. On several occasions Rosa Bonheur had done service for a workman who throughout his life spent his savings in buying engravings of her principal pictures and photographs of herself. His simple dwelling was a temple to her kindness. He described himself as "the earthworm in love with a star." The person here referred to is E. A. Bauray of Clermont-Ferrand, tells me that Rosa Bonheur once asked him: why he was not married, and he replied by asking her the same question. Here was her answer: "Well, sir, it is not because I am an enemy of marriage, but I assure you that I have never had time to consider the subject." —Reminiscences of Rosa Bonheur.

Paternalism in Groceries.

Paternalism with a vengeance is practiced in certain New York groceries. It is benevolent paternalism, though. "Ma wants two pounds of sugar," said a child to a patriarch in the trade.

He consulted a calendar on the wall. "I guess you'd better take only a pound today," he said, "and go kind of slow on that. The week is only half gone, but you have already eaten up three-fourths of your allowance. Tell your mother so."

The child promised to deliver the report on financial depression.

"That is the only way on earth to keep those people from running into debt," said the grocer. "The system is common in this neighborhood. I do it at the customers' request. Every pay day women with spendthrift husbands and an extravagant disposition of their own deposit enough money with the grocer and butcher to see the family through the week. They instruct us to let no one overdraw the amount, and except in cases where extra food is actually needed we stick to our end of the bargain." —New York Times.

Horrors of Bokhara.

The terrible deeds that once made Bokhara a byword are now prohibited by the Russian government. Prisoners are not permitted, for instance, to be dragged through the streets by galloping horses. Nor are they thrown from the top of the high tower called the Minar Katan. This was the usual punishment meted out to evildoers in the old days. Watched by thousands of spectators, the poor wretches were flung from that giddy height on to the flagstones beneath.

Bokhara has many chambers of horrors, unwholesome for western eyes to see and the description of which would certainly be unfit for publication. Perhaps the most horrible of these is a pit where prisoners were tortured by vermin, which were so numerous and ravenous that in the absence of human prey they were fed on chunks of raw meat. —Wide World Magazine.

Disraeli and Goldwin Smith.

It may have been partly by suspicion of my possession of an unpleasant secret that Disraeli was moved to follow me across the Atlantic and try, as he did in "Lothair," to brand me as "a social scoundrel." His knowledge of my social character was not great, for I had only once met him in society. His allusion to the "Oxford professor" who was going to the United States was as transparent as if he had used my name. Had I been in England, where my character was known, I should have let the attack pass, but I was in a strange country, where, made by a man of note, the attack was likely to tell. I therefore gave Disraeli the lie, and neither he nor any of his organs ever ventured to repeat the calumny. —Goldwin Smith in McClure's.

The Thimble.

About 200 years ago a London goldsmith called Trotting made and presented to the lady of his heart on her birthday anniversary a thimble of gold, beautifully ornamented and chased, accompanied by a note which introduced the little contraption as a "token of my humble esteem which shall protect those delicate, fair and industrious fingers from prick and scar of needle head." That was the origin of the thimble.

Fate of a Duchess.

We have had excellent morals drawn from the substantial waist of the Venetian of Milo for the admonition of the fashionable woman. But what can we say about the Duchesse de Mazarin, who (G. Duval tells us in "Shadows of Old Paris") "died in 1775 from tight lacing, although she had posed for a statue of Venus?"

A Matter of Looks.

First Boarding House Keeper—I always keep my boarders longer than you do. Second Boarding House Keeper—Oh, I don't know! You keep them so thin that they look longer than they really are. —Boston Record.

He Got His.

Geraldine—You haven't been to see me since you asked father for my hand. Gerald—No; this is the first time I've been able to get about. —Human Life.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

What's in a Name?

The late King of Siam had for a full name Phra Bat Somdeth Phra Paraminor Maha Chulalongkorn Phra Chulachetana Chob Tu Hua, and this does not include his titles. A wag in Bombay saw it in the paper when the ruler was visiting that city and was being received by the British officials and passed it over to a young Irish subaltern with the challenge that he pronounce it. The young fellow looked at it a moment and then handed it back. He said he was not long enough winded, but he was sure he could play it on the garrison club piano if the instrument were a couple of octaves longer. The king's uncle, however, who was also a prince high priest, had for one name alone the following collection of letters: Pawaratawarilongkaun. Any one who can get through this and not flat one of the notes has lived a long time where he can look out of the window and see the gilded peak of a temple shimmering in the equatorial sun. —Christian Herald.

Starve a Cold.

Nature, as a rule, takes the appetite away when one is coming down with a cold or other infectious disease, and nature is wise. Don't coax Mary to eat when she has a cold. Don't allow the neighbors to tempt Johnny with calf's foot jelly or other dainties. When suffering from a cold the digestive organs are in no condition to care for food. The digestive juices are altered or entirely absent. One or two days' comparative fast will often assist in averting a severe siege of cold. A more convenient and enjoyable form of fasting would be to subsist for one or two days upon fruit or fruit juices perhaps, with the addition of a little toast. An exclusive fruit diet has all the practical advantages of complete fasting, while it satisfies the appetite and supplies sugar from which the liver can manufacture glycogen to sustain the white blood corpuscles in their continuous warfare against microbes. —William S. Sadler in Designer.

Giving Him Carte Blanche.

A few years ago John Kendrick Bangs, the humorist, told a number of his Broadway literary confreres that he felt particularly elated over an order he had just received from Henry W. Savage, the theatrical producer, for the libretto of a musical comedy. The play was produced a few months later. During the long period of rehearsals so much of Bangs' material was eliminated and so much other material inserted in its stead that when the curtain went up on the first night not more than half a dozen of the original lines remained.

About a week later a friend, meeting Bangs, asked him if he was writing any more plays for Savage.

"Yes," replied Bangs. "Only an hour ago I sent him 500 blank sheets of paper and told him to go as far as he liked." —Irvin Cobb in New York Tribune.

Anthony Trollope's First Earnings.

A literary man recalls Anthony Trollope's little glow over the first fruits of his pen. "I send you a copy of 'The Warden,'" he wrote to Lord Houghton in 1836, "which Mr. Longman assures me is the last of the first edition. There were, I think, only 750 printed, and they have been over ten years in hand. But I regard the book with affection, as I made £9 2s. 6d. by the first year's sales, having previously written and published for ten years without any such golden result. Since then I have improved, even upon that." Trollope, of course, "improved upon that" in no uncertain fashion. —Westminster Gazette.

It Was Real.

"My, this must have been exciting!" says Mrs. Bilmers, who is reading the paper. "A twenty foot boa constrictor escaped from the zoo yesterday and was captured after it had climbed halfway up a telegraph pole."

"And I swore off when I saw it as I went downtown!" growled Mr. Bilmers disgustedly.

"What are you muttering?" she asked.

"Nothing. I just said it must have been a ticklish job." —Chicago Post.

As Good as Lost.

"You're sure you can spare this liver, are you, Shadbolt?" "Dinguss, if I had not been perfectly sure that I can get along without it I never would have lent it to you." —Chicago Tribune.

Skeptical.

Teacher—Now, Johnny, what is the shape of the earth? Small-Johnny—I dunno. Teacher—Why, I told you yesterday it was round. Small-Johnny—Yes, I know, but I don't believe everything I hear. —Chicago News.

Not So Brave.

"He was certainly brave to crawl under the bed and engage in a life and death struggle with that burglar." "When he crawled under the bed he thought the burglar was in the basement." —Houston Post.

For Good of the Community.

"Have you ever done anything for the good of the community?" asked the solid citizen of the weary wayfarer.

"Yes," replied the weary wayfarer. "I've just done a month."

Sensible Man.

Crawford—Do you really like to please your wife? Crabshaw—I can't say that I do, but I've found out it's the best plan. —Smart Set.

There are some who bear a grudge even to those that do them good. —Pillay.

Poe's Short Stories.

There are in the best of Poe's brief tales a constructive skill, a command of design and a gift of decoration rare in any literature and almost unknown in English, which is ever unduly negligent of form. And no one need wonder that Poe's short stories wandered swiftly out of our languages into French and Italian and Spanish, into German and Scandinavian and Bohemian, into strange tongues where no other American author, except Fenimore Cooper, had ever before penetrated. His weird psychological studies have influenced later writers as unlike as Maupassant and Richeplu, Fitz-James, O'Brien, Robert Louis Stevenson and Rudyard Kipling. His tales of a mystery solved at last by observation and deduction have been imitated by Dumas and Sardou, by Gaboriau and Bolognini, by Wilkie Collins and Conan Doyle. And Sherlock Holmes, the only fictitious character to win international recognition in the final years of the nineteenth century, is the reincarnation of a figure first projected by Poe—Brander Matthews in Century.

Making a Cake With the Bible.

The following unique recipe for Scripture cake is copied from an old English cookbook. For the ingredients and directions for making the cake you must refer to the Bible, in the chapters and verses given here-with. It may be added that by carefully following the directions you will be able to make a most delicious cake—the very best thing for a Sunday afternoon tea.

Four and a half cups of I Kings iv, 22; half pound Judges v, 25; two cups Jeremiah vi, 20; two cups Nahum iii, 12; two cups I Samuel xxx, 12; two cups Numbers xiv, 8; two teaspoonfuls I Samuel xiv, 25; to taste, II Chronicles ix, 9; six Jeremiah xvii, 11; one and a half cups Judges iv, 19; two teaspoonfuls Amos iv, 5; one pinch Leviticus ii, 13; directions, Proverbs xxiii, 14; bake one and a half to two hours. Baking powder may be used instead of yeast or leaven, as it is termed in the Bible.

The Handkerchief Came From Italy.

A writer in a French review points out that the handkerchief does not come to us from China, as has been generally believed, but from Italy. It is only 300 years ago that the handkerchief of a Venetian lady was considered a great curiosity. The handkerchief crossed the Alps and was received with great favor at the court of France. Handkerchiefs were then made of cambric or lawn and bordered with Venetian or Alencon lace. Under Henry III. of France the sachet was introduced. The handkerchief was taken into Germany a little later, and was known as the "fasciella" after its Italian name. Only persons of quality used it, and an edict in 1595 was published at Dresden interdicting the use of the handkerchief among the trading classes.—London Globe.

Careful of His Gun.

In one of the small mountain towns of Kentucky lived Dan, a half wit, with whom the boys often went hunting. On one of these trips Dan and the young man with him were between two hills when a rabbit jumped up in front of them and ran up the hill to Dan's right. The other fellow, being on Dan's left, did not wish to take the chance of shooting at the rabbit for fear of an accident, so he said: "There he goes, Dan! Shoot him, shoot him!" But Dan simply stood still and watched the rabbit disappear over the hill, and his partner wanted to know why he didn't shoot. After a moment's silence he answered, talking through his nose: "Did you take me for a fool? Do you think I was going to strain my gun shooting uphill?"—Judge.

Spoiled the Solemnity.

Joseph H. Choate when ambassador to the court of St. James and Mark Twain were together in St. George's chapel, London, one hot day, both seemingly sobered by the solemnity of the place. "What an awful thing it is!"—Twain began in a whisper. Mr. Choate leaned closer to catch some ponderously sad expression from the humorist. "What an awful thing it is," Twain repeated, "to be shut up in a place where one cannot smoke."

A Modern Shipwreck.

In an account of the wreck of the sailing ship Camerton Bay on King Island, Australia, it is related that when the vessel struck the captain exactly took a cigar from his pocket, bit the end off and fit it before ordering the boats to be launched. Even this display of lack of fear did not entirely prevent some degree of panic among the men, however, and seven men pushed off in the port lifeboat, leaving twenty-two to scramble into the starboard boat. In spite of the captain's orders the men in the port boat refused to come alongside, and those in the starboard boat shouted that if they did not put off the masts would fall on them. Instead of hurrying to the boat the captain strolled to his cabin and collected his papers. After he had entered the boat he transferred five men to the port boat and made for Tasmania, 100 miles away. He and the mates steered in turn, while the men bailed with empty biscuit tins, and forty-eight hours later both boats reached land.—Chicago News.

Oddities of Cecil Rhodes.

He possessed few intimate friends, and not even to all of them did he disclose his hand. Mere acquaintances disliked his moody silences, varied with fits of rather boisterous fun. They considered him exclusive, morose, rough and overbearing. And it must be admitted that he was a good hater, violent when thwarted and at times blunt to the point of rudeness. It is difficult to be sufficiently unconventional to shock a mining camp, but he shocked it. In dress he was almost irreproachable. He seldom took pains to ingratiate himself with any one, and a man who too openly scorns his fellows must expect to suffer social ostracism and to have his character traduced. It would be idle to deny that for a time there were unfavorable rumors in circulation regarding him or that he was in many circles unpopular. But, like Gallo, he "cared for none of those things."—Sir Lewis Michell.

An Eccentric Bishop.

Bishop Wilson of Calcutta had as housekeeper a venerable lady who remembered the duel between Sir Philip Francis and Warren Hastings on Aug. 17, 1780. On entering the cathedral on a Sunday morning, fully robed, lawn sleeves and all, and passing the pew where the old lady sat he would pause and give her the "kiss of peace" before all the congregation, and this although he had met her at breakfast. His sermons, too, were racy. Preaching against dishonesty, especially in horseflesh, as one of the great English fallings in India, he went on, "Nor are we, servants of the altar, free from yielding to this temptation." Pointing to the occupant of the reading desk below him: "There is my dear and venerable brother, the archdeacon, down there. He is an instance of it. He once sold me a horse. It was unsound. I was a stranger, and he took me in."

Scientist Who Couldn't Light a Fire.

Lord Kelvin, like Lord Morley, once amused a Scottish audience with a display of ignorance. At a lecture in Edinburgh, with Lord Kelvin in the chair, the Duke of Argyll was taken suddenly ill. "When the aged peer was carried down to one of the ante-rooms," said a local paper, "one of the first things to be thought of was the lighting of a fire, and this task was tackled by the duke's host, Lord Kelvin. But instead of placing some paper in the grate and some wood on that in the orthodox manner he amazed the on-lookers by desperate efforts to kindle a handful of sticks at a gas burner. Ordinary mortals may be pardoned for taking some satisfaction in the fact that even so great a philosopher as Lord Kelvin did not know how to light a fire."

Rocky Road to a Title.

"Does Marie expect to marry the count?" "Not immediately. There are three questions to be settled first." "What are they?" "He must prove that he is a count." "Well, that would settle it, wouldn't it?" "No. He must also prove that he isn't married." "Well?" "Then he must prove that he wants to marry Marie."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Atlas and His Load.

Strictly speaking, "atlas" is a misnomer for a map book, since it was not the world, but the heavens, that the "atlas" of mythology upheld. Mercator, the famous Dutch geographer, who made globes for Emperor Charles V. of Germany, was the first to use the name in this connection, choosing it as a convenient and in some sort an appropriate title, because Atlas, the demigod, figures with a world upon his shoulders as a frontispiece of some early works on geography.

Atlas, it was said, made war with other Titans upon Zeus and, being conquered, was condemned to bear heaven upon his head and hands. Later tradition represented him as a man changed by means of Medusa's head into a mountain, upon which rested heaven and all its stars.

In any case, Atlas was always associated with a heavy burden strongly borne. Thus Shakespeare makes Warwick say to Gloucester: Thou art no Atlas for so great a weight.

It is not difficult to see how by an association of ideas this came to be chosen as the name for a book of maps which upholds and exhibits to us the whole world.

Marshal Turgen and His Soup.

There is a quaint old shop in London which still bears the name of Samuel Birch, the first purveyor of turtle soup in the English capital. Amid all the changes of the city Birch's shop in Cornhill survives in the guise it wore when its owner was lord mayor of London in the memorable year of Waterloo. Samuel Birch achieved distinction in many fields. He was an orator and a patriot; he was colonel of the city militia and accepted with great good nature his nickname of Marshal Turgen; he was a man of letters, produced plays that held the stage and books that were readable, though now seldom read. One of his plays, "The Adopted Child," was popular long after its author had killed his last turtle. His daughter married Lamartine, and one of his sons, a fine classical scholar, begat a family of scholars. Yet Birch's claim to fame rests most upon the fact that he was the man who made turtle soup popular. City merchants, templars from the inns and dandies from the west end all flocked to Cornhill, the turtle house of all London.—Argonaut.

Music will be furnished by Smeby's orchestra, and admission will be the same as heretofore, 35c a person. Four cash prizes will be given away at the masquerade. Come and have a good time.

On Thursday evening the members of the Country Club and their friends were royally entertained under the supervision of Mr. John Pirtle, host of the evening, in honor of Saint Valentine. Guests were received in the heart trimmed reception hall and from there were conducted to the dining room where a daintily appointed table awaited them. Decorations here consisted of handsome fruit pieces banked with violets, each lady later receiving a corsage bouquet. Places were marked by red and white menu booklets cunningly combined with dance programs. A seven-course dinner was served, after which the evening was spent in dancing. The affair was another one of the social successes for which the Country Club is noted.

Delightful in every way was the all day meeting on Monday of Chapter L. P. E. O., at the home of Mrs. Ed Lee on Cedar street. The rooms were cheery with the marguerite, the flower of the sisterhood, and a most important business meeting was called from 10 to 12, the president, Mrs. Edith Hunchberger, in the chair. There followed a social hour such as is known only to a true P. E. O. harmonious, blessed, ever to be remembered. Later a most delicious luncheon was served by the hostess and Mrs. Frank Campbell. The program of the afternoon session was led by Mrs. R. D. Goss in a good talk on the very early Californians; roll call was answered by names of famous Californians; and the ancient history of some of the older families of the early days was included in a paper "Looking Backward" (as printed in a midwinter magazine) written and read by Mrs. G. E. Williams. The large attendance was a very pleasing feature.

The entertainment given Saturday evening for the fathers of the Sixth Street Parent-Teacher Association was a decided success in every particular. A program of unusual merit was appreciated by the audience as was evidenced by the very hearty applause. Two little misses, Virginia Hunchberger and Mildred McKee, were in especial favor and were encored and encored. The program in full consisted of the following numbers: "Pilgrim's Progress," Henson Garrett; recitation, Steve Beebe; songs, "I Know a Bank," Shubert's "Sen-enade," Girls' Chorus; recitation, Virginia Hunchberger; song, "Blue Birds Are Singing," by eight pupils; vocal solo, Mr. Frank Geiger; recitation, Fay Stannard; vocal solo, Mrs. Kinney; recitation, Mildred McKee; piano solo, Mildred Garrett; Girls' Chorus; recitation, Harry Glacier.

A social hour followed the program during which refreshments were served. Mrs. E. F. McKee and Miss Mabel Noggle had charge of the punch bowl.

On Saturday last Miss Emma Williams entertained her sister members of the Do Re Me Club at a luncheon given in her foothill home. The affair was given in honor of Miss Katherine Potter, of Potter Park Place, Los Angeles. Luncheon was served in the violet decorated dining room. A huge basket of violets-surmounting an airily poised cupid, graced the center of the table. Favours were hand-painted almond baskets and corsage bouquets of violets for each guest. Small cupids in alships marked each individual plate, both place cards and almond baskets were the work of Mrs. T. R. Crosswell.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Katherine Potter, honor guest; Miss Kie Julie Christin, Miss Sadie Douglas, Mrs. Leona Kellum Biddie, cum, Mrs. Florence Landers, Mrs. Ethel Cook, Miss Eleanor Clemons, Mrs. Bessie Abbot Howland, Miss Grace James, Miss Clara Peterson, Miss Bertha Peterson and Miss Williams, hostess.

The afternoon was occupied by a musical guessing contest, the prize for which was a mammoth bouquet of violets, and a program consisting of musical numbers.

The meeting of the Sixth Street Parent-Teacher Association held last Friday was one of the most interesting held this year. The subject under discussion was the "Moral Training of the Child from the Viewpoint of Parent, Teacher and Physician." Mrs. Winnet Parcher presented the subject from the mother's viewpoint and gave many practical examples showing how mothers are responsible for the morals of their children and pleaded for greater honesty between parent and child. Miss Mabel Noggle gave a very instructive talk outlining many ways by which mothers may aid the teacher in her work toward the moral uplift of the school and laid particular emphasis on the fact that the lack of training in the home handicaps the work of the teacher. It matters not how conscientious she may be.

In her discussion of the subject Dr. Russell gave a number of vital facts which mothers should realize and showed that one of a mother's most important duties to her child was in creating an intimate relationship between mother and child. So great was the interest displayed in the question that Dr. Russell was requested to give a talk along similar lines at the next meeting.

A large number of women attended the meeting. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

THE WEATHER.

Rain began falling last Saturday morning continuing throughout the day. Sunday was pleasant. Rain fell again on Monday, turning to snow on the mountains, coming down quite low on the foothills. As a result of the close proximity of snow, there was a rapid fall of temperature in the valley and the last two days have been the coldest of the winter.

Total rainfall since last week's report as measured by Mr. H. C. Bartlett, amounts to 1.98 inches, making the total for the season 11.81 inches. As far as moisture is concerned the present season is ideal and the present cool weather is reasonable and to be preferred to a warm spell at this time.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES.

Mrs. Albert Morris, an ardent champion of the Glendale library showed considerable thoughtfulness by presenting the library with a handsomely framed copy of Lincoln's address.

A new magazine rack has been placed on the reading table, a very convenient feature.

At a recent meeting of the library board among other things it was decided to provide for the use of the library patrons a complete bound index of all magazine articles dating back to 1908. The index will prove a valuable addition to those searching for references.

It was also decided to obtain a new and standard encyclopedia.

Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., who has been ill at her home on Tropico avenue for the past several weeks, has almost recovered and is able to be about.

Omar Richardson, of Chicago, brother of E. W. Richardson and B. W. Richardson of this place, arrived in Tropico Wednesday morning and will remain here about two months.

A number of the young people of this place have accepted the invitation to attend the dancing party to be given by Miss Lucile Spalding in I. O. O. F. hall, Glendale, tomorrow evening.

Stuart M. Street, recently elected secretary of the Tropico Chamber of Commerce, has purchased two lots on Eulalia street, and will begin at once the erection of a residence to cost about $3000, where he will live.

Mrs. Edward H. Weston will entertain at a delightfully appointed luncheon this (Friday) noon. The invited guests include Mrs. E. J. Morgan, Mrs. Alma Calkins and daughter, Miss Margaret Calkins, of Pasadena; Mrs. C. L. Peckham, and Mrs. J. H. Seaman. Previous to be entertained by Mrs. Weston, the company was shown through the Bungalow Studio, where their photographs were taken.

The Philathea girls of the Presbyterian Sunday school of this place will entertain the Baraca class of the school with a Valentine party this (Friday) evening. The affair will be held in the parlors of the church. During the evening games will be played and some real surprises are in store for those who attend. The plans include the serving of a luncheon when the hand of the clock is nearing the midnight hour.

TROPICO METHODIST NOTES.

Next Tuesday afternoon the Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet in the parlors of the church.

There will be the regular services next Sunday. The pastor will preach both morning and evening.

Rev. Botkin is preparing an entertainment which will be held in the church on the evening of February 28, for the benefit of the church. At this affair there will be stereopticon views, songs and readings.

Rev. Henry Goodsell was leader at the midweek prayer service held in the church Wednesday evening.

THE MISSES REYNOLDS ENTERTAIN.

Probably the most delightful social event at Tropico this week was the Valentine party given by Misses Kitty and Lillian Reynolds at their home on Central avenue, Wednesday evening. The guests present included about thirty of the young ladies' friends from Los Angeles.

In the artistic decorations of the several rooms was manifest the proficient touch of the hand of Miss Kitty, who is unusually talented in pencil and charcoal drawing and painting. The decorations included the draping of red and green crepe paper from different points of the room to the center of the ceiling, from which point hung dainty lanterns. The color scheme was carried out entirely in red and green, which, in all, made the rooms appear unusually attractive.

The game of the evening was "Dice Hearts," while many other interesting and amusing features were provided, including an old-time Gipsy fortune teller. This teller of the past, present and future disclosed many secrets and pointed out the straight and narrow path to those whose palm foretold misfortune and unpleasantness. Refreshments were served at quite a late hour.

It was with much reluctance that the guests donned their cloaks and left the cheerful home, and it was not a great while before the last car left Casa Verdugo for the Angel city.

WAGON SMASHED AT TROPICO.

A team of horses belonging to Whaley & Fish, butchers of Glendale, and driven by S. G. Biddle of this place, ran away Tuesday afternoon at about 3:30, and resulted in the harness being destroyed and the wagon much damaged. The horses were at the lower end of Central avenue when they took fright. At the time Mr.

Biddle was waiting on a customer at the rear of the wagon. Noticing the condition of the animals Mr. Biddle managed to get into the wagon, but it was not before the horses had taken the bits between their teeth and were galloping up Central. When they reached a point almost opposite Palmer avenue the animals turned sharply and in a second the wagon was turned on its side and was being dragged along the street. The contents of the wagon were scattered over the ground. When the frightened animals were finally brought to a stop by Mr. Biddle, who gamely hung to the reins throughout the entire affair, it was found that the tongue of the wagon had been broken off and the harness torn in such a manner that it is totally worthless. The sides of the wagon, also, were badly torn.

The most unfortunate part of the affair was that as the wagon was being tipped to its side Mr. Biddle was thrown out landing on his face on the road. The front wheels of the wagon passed over his back and it is feared that he is injured internally. However, with the same grit that he displayed during the wild ride, Mr. Biddle gathered the meat that still was salable, put it into a buggy that was secured and took it to the market in Glendale.

INCORPORATION ELECTION CALLED.

The election for the incorporation of Tropico as a city of the sixth class has been called. At a meeting of the supervisors held last Tuesday this final action was taken and the time for the election was set at March 7th, the voting place to be in Davenport & Black's real estate office at the corner of Tropico avenue and Brand boulevard. The territory included in the proposed incorporation limits is that originally suggested with the exception that the Forest Lawn cemetery and a small portion of land outside of the cemetery but in that region—the southern part of the proposed line—was petitioned out.

A petition was presented by those wishing to consolidate to Glendale asking that the eastern portion of Tropico, including practically everything east of 150 feet west of Brand boulevard, be not included in the proposed incorporation district. In reference to this petition the supervisors stated that they did not wish to be mixed up in any local fight, and that they thought it was best to allow Tropico as a whole to endeavor to incorporate rather than have the town divided. F. H. Muhleman, attorney of the city of Glendale, A. M. Watson, W. C. Waties, Emil Fram, Mr. Perry, Charles Murray and Hal Davenport, appeared before the board in behalf of consolidation, while E. W. Richardson, Clyde Carmack, C. A. Bancroft, S. M. Street, George Friedgen, Robert Divine, Andrew Stevenson, F. H. Davis and Attorney Frederick Baker were present in behalf of incorporation. The Forest Lawn Cemetery association was represented by Attorney Haas of Los Angeles.

The incorporation movement has been endorsed and is being backed by the Tropico Chamber of Commerce. At a meeting of this society held Tuesday in Logan's hall the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. H. Davis; first vice president, C. A. Bancroft; second vice president, C. R. Carmack; treasurer, J. A. Logan; secretary, S. M. Street. The directors elected are as follows: E. W. Richardson, C. R. Carmack, George H. Friedgen, E. L. Young, F. H. Davis, J. A. Logan, S. M. Street and C. H. Cushing. A committee consisting of E. W. Richardson, E. L. Young and S. M. Street was appointed to secure permanent quarters for the meetings of the society. A representative from an auto tire manufacturing company addressed the chamber in regard to locating a tire manufacturing establishment at this place.

WEST GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Klein, 1520 Ivy street, entertained friends from Long Beach on Sunday.

If a certain lady residing on the West Side will read these columns she will find that she has "returned home."

Mrs. R. W. Hammond entertained her cousin, Mrs. Giddings, of Tropico, at luncheon, Tuesday, at her home on Ivy street.

Mr. R. W. Dederling and daughter, Miss Laura, of Los Angeles, were guests of Mrs. Laura Scammon on Sunday.

Mrs. Dora Gibson, accompanied by Mrs. Frank G. Taylor of West First street, attended the concert given by Ellen Beach Yaw in Los Angeles Monday evening.

Mr. Frank Taylor, who has been spending some time on the desert in the interest of a land deal, reports the weather very cold with two inches of snow on the ground.

Mrs. J. L. Russ and mother, Mrs. Laura Scammon, of 1229 Millford street, gave a theater party on Tuesday, complimentary to Miss Elsie Ladow of Burbank in honor of the young lady's 19th birthday.

Among the many visitors in West Glendale the past week were Mrs. Frank Johnson of Boyle Heights and Mrs. C. T. Harrison and children of Kansas City, mother and sister, respectively, of Mrs. W. T. Parker, 1504 Ivy street.

Mr. George Peters and brother, Walter, of West Fourth street, were counted among the throng of visitors to Mr. Wilson on Sunday. Master Walter is an ardent admirer of the game of ball, but would prefer to have them of the regulation kind—not of snow.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clay spent Saturday with relatives in Los Angeles. Mr. Clay together with Mr. J. H. Cochran who owns considerable property in Utah, made a visit to Perris on Sunday, with a view to purchasing some property, and perhaps in time settling there.

President Taft seems just as able to carry his point with Congress when he makes up his mind to do so, as any of his predecessors. The McCall bill giving effect to the reciprocity treaty with Canada, passed the house by a vote of 221 to 92, the Democrats supporting it almost solidly. The result of this treaty is a distinct and practical victory for real reform in tariff matters and will be far-reaching in its results.

The pupils of the West Glendale school celebrated Lincoln's birthday on Monday morning, with appropriate exercises, consisting of songs, recitations, quotations, etc. Miss Emily Morgan, a most eminent speaker of Los Angeles, who was to have been present and deliver a short address on incidents of Lincoln's life, was not able to be present on account of the inclemency of the weather. For the same reason a number of visitors who were expected, were also detained at home.

The majority of the pupils of the Seventh and Eighth grades of the West Glendale school were the guests of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at their meeting in Filger's hall on Tuesday. Mr. Mark Keppell, who was to have given an address on "Patriotism" had been delayed in Sacramento and was unable to be present. However, a very eminent speaker from Hollywood, a Grand Army veteran, took his place and gave an interesting address on "Lincoln." A splendid musical program was also rendered, and refreshments served.

Miss Wealthy Honsinger of Rome, N. Y., together with her old classmate, Miss Mabel Nisbet, who is connected with the Pacific Hospital in Los Angeles, were visitors at the home of Miss Nisbet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nisbet, of West Fifth street, the latter part of the week. Miss Honsinger is a prominent missionary from Nang, Chang, China, and has just lately returned from that place on account of the destruction of the school by fire. While here, Miss Honsinger gave several addresses before missionary meetings at Pasadena and different places, and is a very eminent speaker and a young woman of beautiful character. She is now en route to her old home in Rome, N. Y., where she will spend some time before returning to her field of labor. Don't forget the evening of Feb. 24.

LECTURE ON "THE FLAG."

One of the most interesting lectures that has ever been given by the schools, societies, etc., will be the one given on the evening of the 24th, at the high school auditorium. Through the efforts of Mrs. Cora Taylor, principal of the West Glendale school, the services of Miss Richardson of Los Angeles, known as "The Flag Lady," and a most eminent and interesting lecturer, have been secured, and no one can afford to miss the opportunity of hearing the talented woman. Aside from Miss Richardson's part in the evening's entertainment the pupils of both the West Glendale and Tropico schools will render some excellent numbers, both patriotic and otherwise. The pupils of both schools have been practicing for weeks under the direction of their respective musical instructors, Mrs. Gibson of the West Glendale school, and Mrs. Mary Anderson of Tropico school, and it will certainly be a treat to all who attend, to hear them. The members of the Grand Army have been invited complimentary, and Professor Moyses kindly consented to furnish ample seating room outside of the 500 seats already in place in the auditorium, so there will be no necessity of any one standing. Every one who is patriotically inclined, is especially requested to be present. Price of admission, adults 25c; children 10c. Don't forget—the 24th.

LATEST FROM THE OIL FIELDS.

Production is Curtailed.
The total production of petroleum in all of the fields of the state for August was 6,743,156 barrels, as compared with 6,901,965 barrels for July. The net decline in the San Joaquin fields was 243,899 barrels, and the decrease in all fields 158,806 barrels. In the valley fields, Coalinga fell off 325,812 barrels, and Kern River 16,908 barrels, while the Midway district, with the American oil fields gusher producing at a heavy clip, gained 359,000 barrels, and McKittrick increased 8,921 barrels.

Two new gushers have recently been added to the long list of California oil sputters. The most recent of the big strikes are those of the American Oil-fields Company and the Standard, the former bringing in a big well a mile west of the Lakeview, which produced at the rate of 10,000 barrels a day for several hours and then sanded up. The Standard brought in a 5,000-barrel well on Section 14-32-23, adjoining the townsite of Taft.

Advices from Washington state that First Assistant Secretary Pierce of the Interior department will come to California next month to investigate the oil situation in this state as it relates to the public domain, and seek light on what legislation should be recommended.

Miss Ellen G. Scott, 1623 Glendale avenue, gave an enjoyable dinner party last Thursday evening to a half dozen friends, the occasion being her birthday. Covers were laid for Miss Minnie Brown, Esther Newlin, Grace Kingsley, Frances St. John, Ella Powell and Clyde Bruce. A number of musical numbers were given by Miss St. John and Miss Powell.
